MESSAGE FROM THE SECRETARY OF MILITARY AFFAIRS AND PUBLIC SAFETY

As this latest annual report reflects, the past year has been one of progress and achievement for the West Virginia Regional Jail and Correctional Facility Authority.

Under Executive Director DeLong and his leadership team, the state's regional jail agency remains dedicated to protecting the public and remaining accountable to taxpayers and the communities it serves.

This laudable approach was on display during the year's unprecedented forums at all 10 of West Virginia's regional jails. At each, local and county officials, legislators and other stakeholders learned about RJA's efforts to manage its finance and reduce and maintain costs. As importantly, these meetings allowed those present to weigh in on the agency's performance and provide feedback.

These forums also showcased RJA's accomplishments. The per diem rate for housing inmates remained unchanged from the prior year, and is lower than it was just a few years ago. The revamped staffing schedule has reduced the strain of overtime while allowing RJA to reinvest the significant savings toward hiring additional correctional officers. The ongoing camera project, which has already improved the safety of both staff and inmates, continues to expand throughout the RJA system.

RJA also remains focused on carrying out Justice Reinvestment. Championed by Gov. Earl Ray Tomblin, this research-driven initiative promises to reduce recidivism while securing determined offenders. RJA is helping to ensure the successful implementation of Justice Reinvestment through its jail intake assessment tool, and the providing of required programming for state-sentenced inmates through the Division of Corrections.

Challenges remain. The jails have made great strides in arriving at more manageable population levels. Further efforts on that front await. The brave and dedicated men and women who account for RJA's continuing success perform a vital but formidable service by protecting the public from those who would do it harm.

Regional Jails remain an integral part of how the Department of Military Affairs and Public Safety serve West Virginia and its people, and I remain steadfast in my desire to aid and work alongside the agency, its employees and leaders.

MAJOR ACCOMPLISHMENTS

- The WVRJA implemented changes in the staffing plan and scheduling model for Correctional Officers resulting in 34% reduction in mandatory overtime in FY 2014 compared to FY 2012. This reduction decreased overtime expenditures over $1.8 million.
- Risk Mitigation efforts have resulted in a steady decrease of claims filed against the WVRJA. In 2014 claims reported were reduced by 44% since 2011.
- The WVRJA began a major surveillance camera instillation project at all jail facilities. The project is 70% complete with final completion on course for August 2015.
- FY 2014 purchasing card expenditures have been reduced by over $2.1 million, a 48% reduction, from FY 2013.
- The WVRJA received an unqualified audit report from our independent, third-party, external CPA firm, which have no note disclosures and no additional qualifying language from the auditors in the financials.
- While facing population reductions which resulted in declining revenues, WVRJA was able to set the FY 2016 daily per-diem at $48.25, a rate lower than the per-diem over a decade ago of $48.50 (2004-2005).
- WVRJA became 100% compliant with the provisions outlined in SB 371, also known as the Justice Reinvestment Act.
- The Special Response Team finished third at the 2014 Mock Prison Riot. There were 32 states and 13 countries participating in the event.
- WVRJA began the process of installing an inmate kiosk system to provide video visitation capabilities as well as a wide variety of internal services to the inmate population.
- Efforts to become 100% compliant with the Prison Rape Elimination Act (PREA) resulted in the WVRJA being awarded a $410,522 grant from the federal Department of Justice (DOJ).

HISTORY OF THE WEST VIRGINIA REGIONAL JAIL AND CORRECTIONAL FACILITY AUTHORITY

The factors that influenced the closing of county operated jails and the realization of a regional jail system date back as far as 1946 when the Bureau of Prisons, in a study authorized by the West Virginia Legislature, found the State's county jails to be "anachronisms and totally unfit for human habitation." The study went on to recommend that the county jails be consolidated into regional jails with adequate numbers of appropriately trained staff.

The ongoing deterioration of physical plants and apparent living conditions in the 1960's and 70's resulted in an increased exposure to the liabilities attendant to inmate-initiated litigation, resulting in the use of Law Enforcement Assistance Act funding to make improvements in many county jails. However, the continuing deterioration of physical plants, many of which were built around the turn of the century, made it evident that mere repairs would be insufficient to deal with the severity of the situation.

In 1982 the Governor's Committee on Crime, Delinquency, and Corrections commissioned a study of county jails resulting in the recommendation of the consolidation of county jails and the creation of a state operated facility for sentenced misdemeanor offenders.

An additional study included involvement of county sheriffs and state level administrators and resulted in the Legislature establishing the West Virginia Regional Jail and Prison Authority in 1985. The original Authority consisted of 21 members. This Authority was empowered to issue revenue bonds to be repaid by special fees attached to criminal convictions and civil cases, establish regions, construct regional jails with bond funds and operate regional jails with operating funds provided by the payment of per diem rate by the counties to be served by regional jails. The Authority developed a master plan for the construction of 12 regional jails. The Authority was to address the needs of the county jails before beginning to consider the needs of the state's correctional system.

In May of 1989, the Eastern Regional Jail (ERJ) opened in Martinsburg initially serving the Eastern Panhandle counties of Jefferson, Berkeley, and Morgan, along with Mineral, Hardy and Hampshire. The latter counties would eventually remove their inmates from ERJ with the opening of the Potomac Highlands Regional Jail in Augusta, WV.

During the 1989 Legislative session the Authority's responsibilities were increased by requiring the Authority to focus both upon regional jails and state correctional facilities. This "change in focus" was brought about in response to the West Virginia Supreme Court of Appeals decision in the case of Crain vs. Bordenkircher requiring the replacement of the

West Virginia Penitentiary at Moundsville. The reconstituted Authority, with seven voting and two non-voting members, now known as the West Virginia Regional Jail and Correctional Facility Authority, revisited the “master plan” and concluded that ten regional jails of two, three, and four hundred bed capacity, built of a prototypical design, could serve the counties and allow for improved efficiency of construction, familiarity of operation, and standardization of training.

The Authority shall be governed by a board of nine members, seven of whom are entitled to vote on matters coming before the Authority. The complete governing board shall consist of the Commissioner of the Division of Corrections; the Director of the Division of Juvenile Services; the Secretary of the Department of Military Affairs and Public Safety; the Secretary of the Department of Administration, or his or her designated representative; three county officials appointed by the Governor, no more than two of which may be of the same political party; and two citizens appointed by the Governor to represent the areas of law and medicine. The Commissioner of the Division of Corrections and the Director of the Division of Juvenile Services shall serve in an advisory capacity and are not entitled to vote on matters coming before the authority. Members of the Legislature are not eligible to serve on the board.

All regional jails are of prototypical design. Within the system there are:

- 2 – 400 bed facilities – NCRJ and WRJ (this number includes available beds in the medical unit and inmate processing area)
- 3 – 200 bed facilities – CRJ, PHRJ, and NRJ. Note that NRJ is contained in the same physical plant as the Northern Correctional Facility in Moundsville, WV. As both RJA and DOC inhabit the same building, this often presents operational requirements that are unique to that facility.

The remaining five facilities are classified as 300 bed facilities.

200 = 192 + medical and holding

300 = 288 + medical and holding

400 = 384 + medical and holding

The West Virginia Regional Jail and Correctional Facility Authority is a special revenue agency. It is designed to act as both a corporate and a government instrumentality. Current outstanding bond debts are retired through fees attached to criminal cases. Operating costs are obtained through per diem charges to the entities who utilize the system.

THE HISTORY & ROLE OF THE WV REGIONAL JAIL & CORRECTIONAL FACILITY AUTHORITY

The WV Regional Jail and Correctional Facility Authority was created by the West Virginia Legislature in 1985. The purpose of the Authority is to provide safe, secure and humane care for persons ordered to be incarcerated by the courts. Generally, regional jails serve both pre-trial defendants and persons sentenced to terms of one year or less. However, offenders sentenced to serve terms of confinement in the custody of the Division of Corrections may also be held in regional jails while awaiting transfer to the state correctional system. The inmate population consists of county, state, and federal inmates, both male and female.

SPECIAL RESPONSE TEAM

Donald Ames
Deputy Director

Donnie Ames began his career as a Probation Officer in 2001 with the Florida Department of Corrections. On February 27, 2005 he began his career with the WV RJA as a Correctional Officer II at South Central Regional Jail. While at SCRJ he excelled to the rank of Sergeant and on December 15, 2014 he was appointed to the position of Deputy Chief of Operations.

In addition to his responsibilities as Deputy Chief of Operations, Mr. Ames is the Director over the Special Response Team. As the Director over SRT Mr. Ames is tasked with providing the SRT members with the highest quality training and tools possible to handle any situation which may arise at any one of our facilities.

The Special Response Team was formed in January 2014 and has made training a priority. As a result, it placed 3rd overall at this year's Mock Prison Riot competition at the former West Virginia Penitentiary in Moundsville. Teams from 32 states and 13 countries participated in the May 2014 competition.

The West Virginia Regional Jail Authority Special Response Team (SRT) completed The New River Tactical LLC - 40 hour SWAT School on April 4, 2014. WVRJA SRT is the only Special Response Team in the state of West Virginia and the only correctional team that has completed this type of specialized training. The team is made up of 16 members that are divided into a Northern and Southern Command. SRT is on call 24 hours a day, 365 days a year. Seven of the RJA's ten facilities employ at least one of the SRT members.

WVRJA SRT HONORED BY PUBLIC SAFETY COUNCIL

The Charleston Public Safety Council honored the Special Response Team for its role as a first responder by presenting an award to the team at a luncheon held October 21, 2014. "Our first responders are also our second responders, our third responders," Council President Valerie George Ellis noted before presenting the award. "They are always responding." Ellis cited the team's safeguarding of the public and the state's 10 regional jails in the wake of news that a gang planned to break out a jailed member accused of trying to arrange the killing of a Charleston police detective. The SRT safely and quietly relocated the suspect to stymie the alleged plot. "The gang had no idea which facility to attack to free its member, therefore avoiding a potential disaster," Ellis said.

"These gentlemen, their No. 1 concern is that correctional officers go home at night to their children and their families," DeLong said. "Their greatest concern is that law-abiding citizens can sleep peacefully at night, knowing that they're doing their part and the Regional Jail Authority is doing our part to protect them from harm."
